Dear Lectors,

Thank you to all of you who proclaim the Word of God each week within the liturgy. This is a wonderful responsibility and a privilege. Thank you for sharing your gifts with the congregation.

As we near the summer months, people tend to dress more casually. When you are proclaiming the Word of God, please dress appropriately and give it the honor that is due.

Please refrain from wearing

- Blue Jeans
- Shorts
- Flip flops
- Skirts that are high or tops that are too low and revealing

Many of you are very good about getting substitutes, and we appreciate that. We call readers and remind them each week, post the master schedule on line, have hard copies available, and try every way to remind you, but when someone is not there it is a noticeable absence. THANK YOU for being considerate of the whole congregation.

God's blessings to you all, and may you have a glorious summer and Ordinary Time!

Jill Maria
